

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates generally to cancer treatment, prophylaxis, and detection, and more specifically, to Porimin binding partners and methods for using Porimin
5 as a target for the treatment, prophylaxis and/or detection of cancer characterized by Porimin overexpression and/or upregulation.